A Decade of Full-Text Encounter Articles Are Now Available Online

http://ojs.great-ideas.org

Institutional Subscribers can access the full text of all available articles at http://ojs.great-ideas.org without usernames or passwords directly from any computer connected to the institution’s servers.

Personal Subscribers. To access Encounter online, visit http://ojs.great-ideas.org and enter your username and password in lowercase. Your Username is your first initial plus your full last name. Your Password is your full last name plus the first letter of your first name for a total of at least six letters. Thus, Joan Smithers would enter jsmithers and smithersj and Thomas Arx would enter tarx and arxtho. Keep your username and password handy, since you will need it to access the full text of any article online. If you should misplace your username or password, send an email to Encounter1@great-ideas.org and request that we resend the information to you.

Not Yet a Subscriber? “Forever” non-expiring subscriptions to Encounter may be purchased online at http://great-ideas.org/enc.htm (US$30 for individual access and $135 for university-wide access). The full text of all of the articles listed within are now available at http://ojs.great-ideas.org. Non-subscribers are able to view the Table of Contents of all issues published between 2003 and 2012; however, only subscribers can retrieve, read online, or print out the full text of individual Journal articles.

How to Access an Online Article

The best way to locate a specific article online is to visit our website, http://ojs.great-ideas.org and click on the “SEARCH button near the top of the opening screen. Type in any significant word from the title of the article or the author’s last name in the “Search All Categories” text box. Then choose the article you are interested in, and click on the SEARCH button and the article should appear. Subscribers can then read the article or full issue online or print it out for later reading.

Educating for Human Greatness by Lynn Stoddard
(Included Online in the Vol 23 (2) Summer 2010 Issue)

In this wise and perceptive book, veteran public school teacher/administrator Lynn Stoddard surveys the state of public education in America and concludes that things have gone terribly wrong. His solution is to ask parents and educators to start by realizing that standardization is neither possible or effective. Only then can they focus on creating schools that emphasize six cardinal principles:

- Value Positive Human Diversity Every Student’s Uniqueness
- Draw Out and Develop Each Child’s Latent Talents
- Respect the Autonomy of the Individual by Restoring Freedom and Responsibility
- Invite Inquiry, Curiosity, and Hunger for Knowledge into the Classroom
- Support Professionalism as Teachers Live by these Principles
- Parents and Teachers Unite to Help Children Grow in Human Greatness
